THE PLATFORM.

Adopted by The National Republican Convention.

Fifty years ago the Republican party came into existence, dedicated, among other purposes, to the great task of arresting the extension of human slavery. In 1860 it elected its first President. During twenty-four of the forty-four years which have elapsed since the election of Lincoln the Republican party has held complete control of the Government.
For eighteen more of the forty-four years
it has held partial control through the possession of one or two branches of the Government, while the Democratic party,
during the same period, has had complete control for only two years.

This long tenure of power by the Republican party is not due to chance. It is a demonstration that the Republican party has not only the confidence of the American people for nearly two generations to a degree never equalled in our history, and has displayed a high capacity for rule and government which has been made even more conspicuous by the infirmity of purpose shown by its opponents.

CARRIED GOVERNMENT THROUGH THE CIVIL WAR.

The Republican party entered upon its present period of complete supremacy in 1867. We have every right to congratulate ourselves upon the work since accomplished, for it has added luster even to the traditions of the party which carried it through the storm of the Civil War.

We then found the country, after four years of Democratic rule, in evil plight,
oppressed with misfortune and doubt,
of the future. Public credit had been lowered, the revenues were declining,
the debt was growing, the administration's attitude toward Spain was feeble and mortifying, the standard of values was threatened and uncertain, labor was unemployed, business was sunk in the depression which had succeeded the panic of 1863, hope was faint and confidence was gone.

We met these unhappy conditions vigorously, effectively and at once. We reduced the tariff, based on free trade principles and governed with sectional protection, and industry, freed from oppression and stimulated by the encoragement of wise laws, has expanded to a degree never known before, has conquered
new markets, and has created a volume of exports which has surpassed imagination.

CONFIDENCE IS RESTORED; DEBT REDUCED.

Under the Dingley tariff labor has been fully employed. Wages have risen, and industries have revived and prospered.
We firmly established the gold standard,
which was then menaced with destruction,
and with confidence in our national property.

For deficient revenues supplied
by improvident issues of bonds, we gave the country an income which produced a large surplus, and which enabled us only four years after the Spanish war had closed to remove over one hundred millions of annual war taxes, reduce the public debt, and lower the interest
charges of the Government.

The public credit, which had been so lowered that in time of peace a Democratic administration made large loans at extravagant rates of interest in order to pay current expenditures, rose under Republican administration to its highest point and enabled us to borrow at a percentage in time of war. We refused to pay higher longer with the miseries of war.

We fought a quick and victorious war with Spain. We set Cuba free, governed the island for three years, and then gave it to the Cuban people with order restored, with ample revenues, with education and public health established, free from debt and connected with the United States by wise provisions for our mutual interests.

PORTO RICANS GIVEN FREEDOM AND ORDER.

We have organized the government of Porto Rico and its people now enjoy peace, freedom, order and prosperity.

In the Philippines we have suppressed insurrection, established order and given life and prosperity a security never known there before.

Bronchitis for Twenty Years.

Mrs. Minerva Smith, of Davielle, Ill., writes: "I had bronchitis for twenty years and never got relief
until I used Foley's Honey & Tar
which is a sure cure."

51-41

Happiness is nothing more than the miseries of life shut out behind a curtain of sound nerves and the windows barred with good digestion.

Bronchitis for Twenty Years.

Ill., writes: "I had bronchitis for

until I used Foley's Honey & Tar
which is a sure cure."

and a decisive part in preventing the partition and preserving the integrity of China.

The possession of a route for an international canal, so long the dream of American shipwrights, is now an accomplished fact. The great work of connecting the Pacific and Atlantic Oceans by a canal is at last begun, and it is due to the Republican party.

We have passed laws which will bring in the arid lands of the United States within the area of cultivation. We have reorganized the army and put it in the highest state of efficiency. We have passed laws for the improvement and support of the militia. We have pushed forward the building of the navy, the defense and the protection of our honor and our interests.

STANDS FOR PROTECTION FOR INDUS- TRIES.

Our administration of the great departments of the Government has been honest and efficient, and whenever wrongdoing has been discovered, the Republican administration has not hesitated to probe
the evil and bring offenders to justice without regard to any party political bias.

Laws enacted by the Republican party
which the Democratic party has failed to enforce, and which were intended for the protection of the public against the just discrimination or illegal encroachments of vast aggregations of capital,
have been fearlessly enforced by a Republican President, and new laws ensuring reasonable publicity as to the operations of great corporations and providing additional remedies for the prevention of discrimination in freight rates have been passed by a Republican President.

In our record of achievement during the past eight years may be read the pledges which the Republican party has fulfilled. We propose to continue these policies, and we declare our constant adherence to the following principles:

Protection which guards and develops our industries is the National policy of the Republican party. The measures of protection should always at least equal the difference in the cost of production at home and abroad. We insist upon the adequate encouragement of any kind.

We therefore, favor legislation which will encourage and build up the American merchant marine, and we cordially approve the legislation of the last Congress which created the Merchant Marine Commission to investigate and report upon this subject.

A navy powerful enough to defend the United States against any attack, to uphold the Monroe doctrine and watch over our commerce is essential to the safety and to the welfare of the American people.

To maintain such a navy is the fixed policy of the Republican party.

We cordially support and encourage the extension of Chinese labor and promise a continuance of the Republican policy in that direction.

ADMINISTRATION'S POLICY IS COM-MENDED.

The civil service law was placed on the statute books by the Republican party, which has always sustained it, and we renew our former declarations that it shall be re-adjusted only when conditions

have so changed that the public interest demands their alteration, but this work can not safely be committed to any other than those of the Republican party.

REPUBLICAN TARIFF MEANS PRO-PERITY.

We entreat to the Democratic party to invite disaster. Whether, as in 1860, the Democratic party declared the protective tariff unconstitutional, or whether it demands tariff reform or tariff revision,
its real object is always the destruction of the protective system. However specious the name, the purpose is ever the same. A Democratic tariff has always been followed by business adversity.

To a Republican Congress and a Republican President this great question has always been easily entrusted. When the only fair trade among the countries of the world, and when we return to protection the existing agitators return to protection the child protective country should not fail
in maintaining it.

We have extended widely our foreign markets, and we believe in the adoption of all practicable methods for their further extension, including commercial reciprocity
wherever reciprocal arrangements
can be effected with the principles of protection and without injury to American agriculture,
American labor or American industry.

We believe it to be the duty of the Republican party to uphold the principles of protection and without injury to American agriculture, American labor or American industry.

FAVOR AN AMERICAN MERCHANT
MANAGER.

The maintenance of the gold standard published by the Republican party can not safely be committed to the Democratic party, which resisted its adoption and has never given any proof since that time of belief in it or fidelity to it.

While every other industry has pro-

BEAN BROTHERS, WINCHESTER, KY.

At the threshold of his second term,
The entire Nation mourned his untimely death and did that justice to his great qualities of mind and character which history will confirm and repeat.

The American people were fortunate in his accession to whom they turned with a trust and confidence which have been fully justified. President Roosevelt brought to the great responsibilities thus safely forced upon him a clear head, a brave heart, an earnest patriotism and high ideals of public duty and public service.

ROOSEVELT READY FOR EVERY EMERGENCY.

True to the principles of the Republican party and the policies of the party he has declared for, he has done his best to be ready for every emergency and to meet new and vital questions with ability and success. The confidence of the people in his justice, inspired by his public career, enabled him to render personal and inestimable service to the country by bringing about a settlement of the strike, which threatened such disastrous results at the opening of the winter of 1902.

Our foreign policy under his administration has not only been able, vigorous and dignified, but in the highest degree successful. The complications of international relations were settled in such a way by President Roosevelt that the Monroe doctrine was dignifiedly vindicated
and the cause of peace and arbitration greatly advanced.

His prompt and vigorous action in Panama, which we commend in the highest terms, not only secured to us the canal route, but also avoided foreign complications which might have been of a serious character.

He has continued the policy of President
McKinley in the Orient, and our position
in that region, which has been strengthened and dignified, has been well sustained but always with due regard to international obligations.

In his conduct we find ourselves in peace with all the world, and never were we more respected or our wishes more regarded by foreign nations.

Our foreign relations are in great fortune in dealing with domestic questions. The country has known that the public credit of the National currency was absolutely safe in the hands of his administration.

The enforcement of the laws he has shown many courageous efforts, which understandably he has been compelled to do to prevent the violation and disregard of the law, and to see that the law is enforced and that there may be no distinction between rich and poor, strong and weak, but that justice and order and equity and equality under the law must be secured
to every man without regard to race,
color or condition.

His administration has been thoughtful, vigorous and honorable, high-minded and patriotic. We commend it without reservation to the considerate judgment of the American people.

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

We are authorized to announce
THOM. H. P. THOMSON,
of Clark County, a candidate for State Senator of Clark County, and for the election of Montgomery County, subject to the action of the Democratic party.

DEMOCRATIC TICKET.

F. C. CONGRESS,
F. A. HOPKINS,
of Floyd County.

ONLY THE BEST.

The ADVOCATE will vote as it talks. It will contend for sober, discreet men to represent the Democracy in positions of preference and will see that only such Democrats will be nominated. When we go out to find sober, discreet, capable men to hold offices who will be a servant of the people and not a party, we will not look around in Republican quarters for them. Such men are in the Democratic party and such must be our nominees.

GET TOGETHER.

One of the growing men of the United States with Democrats is the Hon. W. R. Hearst, of New York, candidate for the Democratic nomination for President. He talks this way: "Democrats must get together and be sure to not only vote for the St. Louis nominees but get out and work for them." Keep your eye on Hearst. If he lives the people will some day make him President. It may not be now, but it will be some day.

WHO?

Who will be the Democratic nominee for the next Legislature from Menifee and Montgomery counties? Who? An anti-saloon man, a sound Democrat. None other need apply. The good people, the young people who must assume responsibilities will look after this matter, and a fix-up is coming with men who do not fear the saloon power. Whiskey must be used as medicine and nothing else; it is too dangerous.

LET THEM COME.

There is going to be a large number of candidates this year, and there is going to be all kinds of cheering but if we are not mighty foolish the people will pick the best. There will be many offering but only a few and that a select few will be chosen.

JUDGE PARKER.

All indications point to the nomination of Judge Parker at St. Louis for Democratic President.

Returned After an Absence of Fifty-One Years.

Flfty-one years ago P. M. Greenwade was a boy ten years of age, and at that time he had emerged from the Kentucky and went to Texas, where he had applied his energy and talents to make a good living. He won, in answer to a question he said: "I don't know just how much land I own, but somewhere between eight and ten thousand acres." At this juncture W. T. Fitzpatrick informed us this was the cousin he had told about visiting who had so many cattle he did not pretend to count them. It was "cattle on the hill."

This is Mr. Greenwade's first return to Kentucky. Saw nothing familiar. He has been married twice and raised two sets of children, seven in all. While talking to two beautiful young ladies approached the residence of Allen McCormick, where Mr. Greenwade, children and a few Kentucky cousins were dining, and we were introduced to Misses Ethel and Julia Greenwade, two young girls, who were in Kentucky a few days and from here they go to the World's Fair at St. Louis and thence will return to their home. "May the Lord continue to prosper these good people, and may their return to Kentucky be more frequent."

Vice-Presidential Nominees.

Silas C. Swallow is a resident of Harrisburg, Penn. Four years ago he opposed Jno. G. Woolley for the nomination on the Prohibition ticket.

He is a Methodist preacher, and editor of the Pennsylvania Methodist, a man of great ability and much loved. His nomination was seconded by the representatives from 20 States. There was great enthusiasm.

Vice-Presidential Nominees.

Four names were presented for this office: Geo. W. Carroll, of Texas, I. H. Amos, of Orie, on, A. U. Coats, of Iowa, Col. Benjamin F. Parker, of Wisco, etc.

Parker's name was withdrawn and the vote of his State was designated for Carroll. Mr. Coats then arose and withdrew. The vote was then taken, resulting in the choice of Carroll by the vote. Carroll 626, Amos 200.

Mr. Carroll was Prohibition candidate for Governor of Texas two years ago. At present is an alderman of Beaumont, Texas. His absence from the convention was explained by saying that he is acting as Mayor (owing to the absence from Beaumont of that official) and that he is engaged in a fight against the gamblers there. He is a millionaire oil operator, a philanthropist and an excellent man. Last year he gave $75,000 to one college. He is a member of the Baptist Church. Many speeches were made in seconding nomination, and there was great enthusiasm.

EVENING.

A mass meeting closed a very successful convention with great encouragement for the coming campaign.

In answer to a telegram Clem Madden and Ernest Myneir, of Noblesville, Ind., both Mt. Sterling men and former employees in the Advocate office, came to Indianapolis on Thursday afternoon accompanied by Mrs. Madden and a young lady, Miss Florence Reichel. In the evening they attended the mass meeting together until after 9 o'clock, when they left to catch the electric car for home, 20 miles away.

We much enjoyed their visit, and are pleased to report to their Kentucky friends that they are doing well.

We called at the Wood-Weaver Printing Co's office to see the Wood Weavers, Laber and John F. The latter is the president and manager of the company, and owns most of the stock. Did not learn whether Laber has any stock. The employee number about 30, and the company does an immense business, and is evidently successful.

FACTS and OBSERVATIONS

The writer left this city on Tuesday morning, June 28, to attend the Tenth National Prohibition Convention which met at Indianapolis on Wednesday and Thursday. This was our first experience in attending a national political convention. Ed route took "Cincinnati" over the Big Four railroad we in some of the Kentucky delegation, and Rev. Chas. Clay, Methodist, of Indiana Terre Haute, was our starting point, from which to Kentucky. He formerly preached at Clay City, and many acquaintances here. He made "high" about David Howell, "Vi Jones and wife etc.

$15.00 SUITS.

You can tell them; others say they can tell our clothes. There is that distinct style, that good fit of shoulders and neck in our suits that is found in no others. It's not a secret with us—it's knowing how. Elegant Serges, fancy hard-faced Worsted, Scotch and Irish Home-Spun, worked up into some fetching double and single-breasted styles ready for you now. Don't buy hand-me-downs or poorly made-to-order clothes that will hang on you like a sack—come here and you'll look different. The price is no greater. $15.00 buys the best $15.00 suit on earth here.

J. &amp; M. SHOES.

Clipper W. L. & Sons, Dingley Shoes in the shiny leather, Patent leather, Calf, Full-grain, high or low shoes, $3 to $6; greatest and most complete shoe making in the world. They hold their shape, they fit; we fit; more meat in our shoes than other shoes. Walk in them. Not a shoe store better and lower priced.

SMART CLOTHES for Limited Purse!

Our way of knowing how gives the discriminating buyer of to-day the best for his money in every respect. There is a hundred and one little things that go into a suit to make it smart looking that you never dream of. Getting them there means knowing how. Hundreds of young fellows and old ones, too, have caught on to this. They are coming here and leaving the fitting and selecting of patterns to us. We never lose a customer of this kind. The shopper sooner or later learns of us and our way and usually ends where he should have begun. Don't waste time, energy and money with apprentices in the business. Come and buy the clothing that bears the ear marks of the high-class custom tailors at one half the price from WALSH BROS.

Sole agents for Knox Soft, Stiff, Panama and Straw Hats, world renowned, faultless in detail, correct in style; sold by no other house here. Jno. B. Stetson's Soft and Stiff Hats, the complete line here and here only.

Big Sale.

Read carefully the page advertisement of S. M. Newmyer, proprietor of the Louisville Store. He has secured the services of an expert who makes things lively for the few days the sale is on. Mr. L. C. Whitney is the same gentleman who put Mr. Watson's sale at Lexington and who had such unprecedented success that it was repeated a few days with like satisfaction, going to the cash drawer more than $7,500 in nine days sales. In order that the people may be induced to buy the cuts on all prices are very deep. In this sale at the Louisville Store the cuts are so heavy that it is expected almost everything will change hands in the limited time.

Fire.

E. W. Stockton & Co.'s dye and cleaning house caught on fire Friday evening from the stove, destroying all the dyed and cleaned fabrics. Loss total, five hundred dollars, with one hundred and fifty dollars insurance in Roger's Agency.

We heard Cyclone Davis, of Texas. Hector, the Black Prince of Pennsylvania, is no slouch. When we go to a convention (religious or political) we go to the convention, so usually what is to be seen and hear what is to be heard. Outside pleasure and observations are secondary matters. We called twice at the National headquarters of the C. W. M.

Indianapolis is a beautiful city.

A call was made for the preachers to rise. There appeared to be at least 30. Nearly as many old soldiers stood. About sixty women delegates were present. We attended every session for three nights and two days, and do not remember to have seen a man or men smoking in the hall.

We had heard a remark about delegates at Prohibition conventions about spitting tobacco on the floor. We were told that the adjournment of last afternoon session we walked from end to end of each of the three aisles. We saw tobacco spit in only one place.

En route to Indianapolis we said to the conductor: I see that in this State you do not have separate coaches for colored people (we had a colored woman in our car). Is this true?

He said: No, we do not have separate coaches for colored people (we had a colored woman in our car). He made a remark about whiskey in Kentucky. We replied you surely don't expect Kentuckians, en route to a Prohibition convention to have whiskey.

He smiled, kept sweet and kept movin'.

Before we left home J. D. Smith, of Paducah, State Chairman, had invited us to share the room known as Kentucky Headquarters.

We were not a delegate, so took no part in conference or public discussions.

We are free to express the opinion that if more Republicans and Democrats would attend the Prohibition conventions here than those for Christian citizenship, their impassioned oratory in behalf of the Nation's cause, they would have deeper insight into personal responsibility, fuller, loftier conceptions of our Nation's privileges and less fear and dread concerning the safety and perpetuity of the republic.

We are glad the we went to Indianapolis. Our time and money have been well spent.

Mrs. Francis Beveridge, of Fremont, Neb., is Secretary, Treasurer and General Manager of the party in that State. She said if the party gets 1,000,000 votes this fall we will have the balance of power, and I think we will get them.

In the last Mayoralty race in Indianapolis the Prohibition vote was 5,500. The Prohibition vote in Chicago was 7,104 and growing rapidly.

During the last four years

$17,000,000 was spent for Prohibition work in the U. S.

Home Guards of Pittsburgh, was temporary chairman; A. G. W. Wenzel, of Lincoln, Neb., was permanent chairman.

The Prohibition vote in 1900 was 300,000, an increase of nearly 80,000, above 1896.

Change of Firm.

H. Trimble came from Hazel Green and began business in the grocery trade in this city April, 1874, with a firm of his brother, Mr. Trimble. On January 1, '76, he became a wholesale and retail business in present stand cor. Main and Maysville Sts. This continued until July 1, '82, when the firm became Trimble Bros.; he admitting his brother, Robert M. Since October 1, '89, their trade has been exclusively wholesale and they have had a large trade. On last Friday, July 1, 1904, this firm changed and Trimble Grocery Co., was incorporated with a capital stock of $40,000. Its officers are: N. H. Trimble, President; Robt. M. Trimble, Vice President; J. G. Trimble, Jr., Secretary; T. D. Jones, Treasurer; and, in addition to above, J. G. Trimble, father of the Trimble Bros., is also a stockholder. Mr. Jones resigned the Assistant Cashiership of the Mt. Sterling National Bank to accept this. We wish them much success.

No admission will be charged at the Fredrich lecture tomorrow evening. Voluntary collections will be acceptable. Whatever is received above expenses will be cheerfully given to the W. C. T. U. to apply on the fountain.

CHOKING CATARRH CURED

YOUR MONEY BACK IF HYOMEI DOES NOT CURE YOU.

"Use Hyomei and be cured of catarrh," is what all who have tried it for that disease say to their friends.

It is the easiest thing in the world to stop catarrh at its beginning if you use Hyomei. Just breathe the heat-giving, balsamic air for a few minutes and your catarrh will be cured.

In this city and neighboring towns there are hundreds who can testify, to the remarkable powers of Hyomei to cure catarrh. Many of the staunchest friends of this remedy today began its use with little hope that they would be cured, but as W. S. Lloyd offered to refund the money if it did not cure, they decided to try it on that plan, and were soon restored to health. [J. 6-20]

BUILDINGS NEVER FINISHED.

Curious History of Some Enterprises Begun Long Ago in England.

A fine church in the village of Hassall, near Sandbach, has been the sport of all the winds that blow since about 1837, says Stray Stories.

Began in 1836, and designed to seat some 500 people, it grew steadily till shortly after the accession of Queen Victoria in the following year.

The day after that historical event the founder—a private gentleman—was seized with a fatal illness, and consequently his intentions were unfulfilled, notwithstanding that the structure was so far advanced that they could have been carried out at small expense. Since then the building has remained unfinished.

A similar history is attached to an uncompleted church in Somerset. According to local report, too, a church at Stourport, in Worcestershire, is never to be finished, although it has been in course of construction for a very long period.

Near a railway in a certain Lancashire town, for instance, there is a row of half-built cottages. This conglomeration of bricks and mortar was thrown together many years ago by an enterprising speculator, who thought that the railway would be carried across the land which it occupies, and that he would therefore be able to sell it at an excellent profit.

But his anticipations were not realized, so he left the embryo cottages to their fate. On his death his estate passed into obscurity, and for this and other reasons it is extremely improbable that the property will ever be finished.

Numbers of structures now in a more or less ruinous condition are so because the builders laid their plans too hastily. A curious instance is a part of a lighthouse on the summit of St. Catherine's hill, in the Isle of Wight.

When this edifice was well advanced the owner of the tardy discovery was made that, owing to the height to which it would reach, fog or clouds would obscure the beacon at the top. The structure was consequently abandoned.

Equally curious is the history of a picturesque ruin on Mow Cop, near Congleton. A certain gentleman determined to build a castle on this eminence.

When it was nearly completed the owner of the adjoining estate came forward and claimed that the hill top was in his domain. So, in fact, it proved, and as a result the proposed castle remains unfinished to this day.

There are, moreover, some buildings which are designedly incomplete. Near Southport stands a residence which, though it seems to be finished, always has men working on it—painters, paper hangers, etc.

The reason it is continually in the hands of such artisans is that when it is completed it must be surrendered; so the occupier takes care that it cannot be pronounced finished. In fact, it will never be completed.

Cathedrals will never be really finished. Large staffs of masons, etc., are permanently engaged on them, as men are always painting the Fonth bridge and others are repairing the Liverpool landing stage.

IGNORANT

Or Wilfully Misrepresenting The Truth.

[Lexington Herald.]

Our Republican friends are in the habit of making confident statements of alleged historical facts; sometimes in criticism and censure of the Democrats, sometimes in commendation of their own conduct.

Among other such confident and inaccurate statements in the platform adopted by the re-ent Republican convention in obedience to the order of the President there two:

"That a Democratic tariff has always been followed by business prosperity, a Republican tariff by business prosperity."

By the fatuous and unfortunate division of the Democratic party at Charleston in 1860 Mr. Lincoln was elected President and was inaugurated March 1861—forty-three years ago.

That day the Democratic party had had possession of the Presidency and both Houses of Congress for only two years and, therefore, could not enact a tariff law during that long period except during that short interval of two years. Those two years were from March 4th, 1860, to March 4th, 1862.

It is certain that every tariff act passed from March, 1861, to March 1862, was a Republican act.

Was there a continuous, uninterrupted period of business prosperity from 1861 to 1863? Were there no periods of depression? No bankruptcies? The New York Times answers that question as follows:

The Republican party came into power in 1861; this clearly fixes the period in which comparison between the Republican and Democratic tariffs and their consequences must be made.

Since that date there have been half a dozen times of great depression in business which were accompanied by enough excitement of the public mind to be called panics. The first occurred in the spring of 1861 and was due wholly to the impulsive course of secession.

The second occurred in 1862.

In 1863 there was a fourth interval of stagnation and disturbance, when the number of failures nearly doubled and the liabilities again increased, this time to $234,999,000.

Finally, in 1864 there was a fifth period of stagnation and disturbance, when the number of failures nearly doubled and the liabilities again increased, this time to $234,999,000.

How many periods of panic of which the records are entirely complete and all the earliest of which are within the memory of a very large number of experienced business men, Every one of them occurred under a Republican tariff. Not one of them followed a Democratic tariff, for the tariff was in existence from the first to the last. If they were caused by tariffs at all—and the tariff had much to do with them indirectly—it must be that they were caused by Republican tariffs. Esop's wolf was not more mendacious or more silly than the writer of the Republican platform.

The Democrats organized the 53rd Congress at the extra session in August, 1863. Under the operation of the Sherman act the silver question had become acute, and it was clear that unless some unusual measures were adopted the run on the treasury would be disastrous.

Mr. Cleveland called Congress in extra session and at the purchasing clause of the Sherman act was repealed, and at that session no tariff legislation was enacted. The financial depression had commenced in 1862, before the Presidential election, and whoever or whatever was responsible for it was not a subsequent tariff bill. This period of depression certainly did not "follow" a Democratic tariff bill.

After the expiration of the second session of that Congress and late in 1863 the so-called Wilson-Gorman bill was passed. It was enacted by a Democratic Congress; it was an improvement on the McKinley bill, but it was in no other sense a Democratic bill; it was in fact the highest protective bill ever theretofore passed except the McKinley bill.

It was a Senate bill concocted by the protection Democrats of the Senate, and forced through that body.

It was a Gorman-Butler-Price-Pugh, and other protection Democrats' bill.

When the House refused to concur in the Senate bill, it was a Senate bill, fatefully called Senate amendments, the Senate refused to concede anything, and openly announced that the House had to be told that bill without crossing a "T" or dotting an "I," or nothing.

Indeed, it was an open secret that the anti-Cleaveland Senatorial cabal desired the bill to be defeated.

Finally, under the leadership of Mr. Wilson and with great reluctance on his part, the House received from its non-currence, and the bill was sent to the President for his approval.

He did not veto it, but he refused to approve it and it became a law without his approval.

His famous message explaining his reasons for refusing to veto it and yet refusing to approve it is one of the historic Presidential messages.

It is true that this tariff law was passed by Democratic votes and that sense was a Democratic tariff; but it was in principle and schedules a Republican tariff, and the only justification any Democrat ever had or urged for voting for it was that it was a less onerous, more impartial and fairer law than the McKinley tariff bill.

The Democrats refused to vote for it because they were then in the minority.

They organized the 54th Congress at the extra session in August, 1864.

Under the operation of the Sherman act the silver question had become acute, and it was clear that unless some unusual measures were adopted the run on the treasury would be disastrous.

Mr. Wilson called Congress in extra session and at the purchasing clause of the Sherman act was repealed, and at that session no tariff legislation was enacted.

The financial depression had commenced in 1864, before the Wilson-Gorman bill was passed.

IMPROVED TRAIN SERVICE.

Offered by the Henderson Route between Louisville and St. Louis.

Louis.

Commencing Sunday, June 26th, Kentucky's popular line, the Henderson Route, will inaugurate a safe and fast day service between Louisville and St. Louis in each direction, and will improve the time and equipment generally of all trains between these points.

Three daily trains will be operated in each direction on the following safe schedules between Louisville and St. Louis:

Leave Louisville 8:30 a.m., 9:00 p.m., and 7:00 a.m. Arrive at St. Louis 6:16 p.m., 7:20 a.m. and 6:16 p.m.

The equipment is brand new (just from the shops), of the most modern vestibule pattern and is as fine as on any train operating in or out of Kentucky.

The 8:30 a.m. train, through without change of cars, will be composed of Pullman Observation Parlor Cars, Free Recalling Chair Cars, Dining Cars and high back seat passenger coaches.

The 9:00 p.m. train, through without change of cars, will consist of Pullman Sleeping Cars, Free Recalling Chair Cars, and high back seat passenger coaches.

The 7:00 a.m. train will have Parlor Cars, Dining Cars and high back seat passenger coaches.

The Dining Cars on Day trains will serve meals a la carte—you pay only for what you get.

All trains will leave from and arrive in the Seventh Street Union Depot, Louisville, arriving at and departing from the magnificent new Union Station, St. Louis.

In purchasing your tickets to St. Louis or to points west, ask the agent for tickets via Louisville and Henderson Route. He will have them in stock and will be glad to ticket you that way.

You will be satisfied in every respect with the accommodation and safe train service that is offered by this line, which has been termed the Official Route for Kentuckians. 50-51

The franchise value of the C. & O. Railway has been placed at $2,310,900, by the State Board of Valuation and Assessment. The road will pay taxes to the amount of $1,564.50.

There were a large number of cases brought to the courts under this law, which was one of the reasons for its removal. No one was permitted in New Haven in 1650 to cross a river except by the aid of an authorized ferryman. If a young swell of the town wished to row his women friends across the river he was not allowed to do so by the law. A debtor in prison, if he were to have no estate, was sold to the debt. Whoever brought "cards and dice into the dominion" had to pay a fine of £5 (English money). Whoever wore clothes trimmed with silver, gold or bone lace at above two shillings' cost the yard was "presented to the grand jurors and fined." A sweeping regulation was to the effect that no one should keep Christmas or saints' days, cards or play cards. Married people had to live together or be imprisoned, divorces being allowed only in remarkable cases. In 1812 the card-playing regulation was still in force, as in that year seven young men in New Haven were arrested for the crime, punished and made to pay fines and costs amounting to nearly $5 apiece. The ministers of the church could not perform marriage ceremonies, that office going to the legal fraternity. If a man struck his wife he was fined, but if a woman struck her husband she might be whipped by town court order. Every man in the colony had to have his hair cut round like a poll by a pumpkin set on his head or a bowl.

WHAT THIS MAN SAYS

Only Re-Echoes the Sentiments of Thousands in Our Republic.

The Mt. Sterling reader is asked to thoroughly investigate the following. This can readily be done, for the gentleman whose statement is published below will only be too pleased to answer any communications mailed to him if the writer really suffers from the annoying consequence which always attend inaction or weakened kidneys.

A. GUM, Jr., Cleveland, Ky., says: "I was laid up with kidney trouble for a number of days and it was only with the greatest difficulty that I could move in any manner. When I was able to be up I found it hard to budge on account of the great pain that this action caused. I heard of Doan's Kidney Pills and procured a box and after taking them a short time was greatly surprised to find that they benefited me. I continued taking them and soon I was up and about as well as I ever was. I can not praise Doan's Kidney Pills highly enough and I am only too pleased to recommend them."

Plenty more proof like this from Mt. Sterling people. Call at F. C. Duerson's drug store and ask what his customers report.

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other. 51-52

CONNECTICUT BLACK-LAWS.

Early Regulations of New Haven Colony Were Very Strict.

In New Haven the "blue laws" were famous for their severity, says the New York Tribune. No man could vote in the town elections unless he were a member of some church. No Quaker or dissenter within was ever allowed to step within the borders of the town.

To pick an ear of corn growing in another's garden was deemed theft, as well as any vegetable or fruit belonging to another, penalty for which was fine and corporal punishment.

A young man could not "court a maid in person or by letter without first obtaining the consent of her parents." For the first offense under this law the penalty was £5, £10 for the second offense, and for further repetitions imprisonment at the pleasure of the court.

This was an old Massachusetts law, but New Haven code was much more specific than that of Boston. Trading with a young woman's affection was strictly forbidden, "whether by speech, writing, message, gifts or in any other way."

CURIOS LUGGAGE.

Bags of Baggage That Identify Some Prominent Travelers.

Nearly one every who travels much has a piece of baggage peculiar to himself. When one is an ordinary citizen this is allowable, and no annoyance follows but in the case of a prominent man every one is consumed with curiosity to know what is in the peculiar piece of baggage.

Some time ago, when on duty at the station, says an exchange, I noticed a plain, square deal box, about a foot in length and six or seven inches in depth, among the luggage of the prince and princess of Wales at Paddington.

The box was fastened by a black hoop and padlocked, and inquiries revealed the fact that the box is nearly always noticed among the portmanteaus and other impedimenta of the prince of Wales when his royal highness travels. The box is stamped on the cover with a black royal coronet, and what it contains has frequently aroused from time to time a certain amount of prying curiosity among railway officials.

Most railway porters are familiar with a certain very narrow, yellow-looking box, about four feet in length, that generally accompanies Mr. Balfour on his journeys. Various conjectures have been made as to what the box might contain. Some have hazarded the guess that it covers the premier's golf sticks, and others have suggested that the box is obviously one which contains many a secret in immediate connection with the welfare of the great empire. Mr. Balfour always keeps close eye on it.

Mr. Chamberlain's luggage has one distinctive feature. The colonial minister does not appear to possess a single large or cumbersome piece of baggage. The luggage that usually accompanies him consists of a few small brown leather portmanteaus and a single hatbox, all branded in black letters as belonging to Rt. Hon. Joseph Chamberlain.

Outside its characteristically compact and tidy appearance, Mr. Chamberlain's luggage never excites any remark, except the small handbag which he always carries.

Some years ago the duke of Devonshire was noticed from time to time to be frequently accompanied on his journeys by a round black tin case, about two feet in length, fastened at one end by a padlock.

The contents of this mysterious looking case, which for some time excited a great deal of curiosity among different railway officials, were one day exposed to view, and all mystery in connection with the case ceased. The top by some means fell off one day whilst the case was being placed in the train, and exposed to the gaze a number of ordinance survey maps of the duke's.

A Real 4th.

To say the celebration of the 4th arranged for by the Women's Christian Temperance Union was a success is needless. It was a typical 4th of July celebration, even the clouds lightnings and thunder joined in the gladness chorus of happy voices, as much so that just after the parade while the festivities were yet in their beginning, the brightly lighted and decorated lawn had to be abandoned, but the home of Mr. and Mrs. Oldham was equal to the occasion and with that ideal Kentucky-American hospitality, accommodated both, every body was received into the porte-aux. Then all the qualifying, romancing, estifying and edifying—you never saw the like. We heard of uncle George and aunt Martha clear on down to the idea "Ky Baby." Thus the hours were passed till the full magnificence of the invitation.

SETHS.—Monday morning the sad intelligence flashed from Arkansas City, Kansas, to this place notifying Ed. and Robert Settles of the death of their brother, Ben, from suicide by shooting himself.

No reason was assigned. Mr. Settles was a carriage manufacturer.

He was a man of means, and was approaching his forty-fifth year.

For a number of years prior to last December he had lived here coming from North Middletown, and conducted a large business in the manufacture of vehicles and doing repairing and was known as an upright man. His untimely death is the source of much regret. His remains will arrive here Thursday for burial.

WOON.—In this city, at the home of her mother, Mrs. Fannie Reese, Mrs. Mattie Wood, wife of Ed. N. Wood, died on Friday morning, June 1, 1904. Ed. and Mattie were for a long time a happy couple, she was brought here from their home in Florida to die at the home of her childhood. The funeral service was conducted at the residence on Sunday afternoon by Revs. H. D. Clark and W. T. Tibby, and the burial was in Machpelah.

The beauty and sweetness of childhood with additional charms of maturity years adorned her life and made her worthy of the love and confidence of a host of friends.

Her mother, her sister, Mrs. C. C. Peters, of Pittsburgh, Pa., her husband and her daughter, Miss Mary Williams Wood, survive her.

Going Quick.

The Louisville Store was closed all day Tuesday preparing for the great Bargain Sale which begins with the morning. Mr. Newmyer, the proprietor, has turned the entire stock and many other articles in rapid transit from the East, over to Mr. L. C. Whitney & Co., who makes a specialty of seeing that merchandise goes in midsummer while business is usually at a standstill. Read the full page advertised in this issue.

An account of the speaking of old soldier's reunion at Camargo will be given next week.

DEATHS.

Nelson.—Silas Nelson, aged 70 years, a very correct, hard working and respectful colored man died suddenly at his home here June 28, 1904, of heart disease. He was a stone mason and had done work on some of the largest buildings here. His remains were buried from the Christian Church after funeral services conducted by Rev. W. H. Brown.

McClure.—Albert McClure, aged about 58 years, died at the home of his sister, Mrs. Margaret Beall, near Winchester, on Friday night, July 1, 1904. He has been in feeble health for some months, and was visiting her. The burial was in Winchester on Sunday. He was the son of John M. McClure deceased. He was never married. He leaves four brothers and three sisters in this and Clark county.

Wyatt.—On Sunday, July 3rd, 1904, Haymer May Wyatt twelve years old, daughter of William Wyatt and wife, departed this life after suffering for several months with bright eyes. She had not been confined to her bed until a few days prior to death and while the fond parents realized the serious condition of their child they did not know the end was so near. The funeral service was held at the home at Camargo (Monday) conducted by Rev. B. F. Crosby, pastor of the M. E. Church at Old Fort and burial took place in Machpelah Cemetery.

SETTLES.—Monday morning the sad intelligence flashed from Arkansas City, Kansas, to this place notifying Ed. and Robert Settles of the death of their brother, Ben, from suicide by shooting himself.

DEATHS.

Union Service at Christian Church on Sunday evening, sermon by Rev. Edward Mann.

Dr. B. B. Bailey, pastor of Winchester Baptist Church, has accepted call to Shivelyville.

Rev. H. D. Clark delivered a fine sermon to a large and appreciative audience at M. E. Church Sunday night.

The Brooks-Stampfer revival at Sharpsburg is becoming quite a meeting. Last Sunday the Christian Church building at that place would not accommodate the large audiences. There were eleven additional services on that day.

Eighteen in all on Sunday night. The whole community is armed with religious zeal and great good is being accomplished. W. T.

Brooks, of Indiana, is the evangelist, and A. L. Stammer, of Lexington, has charge of the music. A chorus of twenty voices leads the congregation and the music is one of the helpful features of the meeting. Mr. Brooks, the evangelist,

CHICAGO PLATFORM RIDLED

In Interview By John Sharp Williams.

THE NEGRO SUFFRAGE PLANK.

No Desire to Aid the Negro, But Only Object Is To Disturb

The South

BOAST ABOUT THE TRUSTS

The Hon. John Sharp Williams, of Yazoo City, Miss., Democratic floor leader of the House, declared himself forcibly when asked his opinion of the Republican platform. He had read it carefully, but he took it up again and said:

"What about the Republican platform, do you ask? In the main there is nothing new about it, because there is nothing new in it. It is simply the old Republican game of claiming everything good that has happened and denying the truth, namely, that the Republican party has done nothing in two years except to 'stand pat,' as they call it, and spend money. As usual, the Wilson Gorman bill is denounced as a Democratic tariff law, based on free trade principles, when, as a historical truth, it was further off from free trade than any tariff law that ever existed in America except that which bore the name of McKinley and that which bore the name of Dingley. The fact that there was no increase of imports under the Wilson Gorman Bill is proof of the further fact that whatever depression in American industry then existed could not have been owing to lowering of duties and competition of foreign products by the operation of that bill.

"The platform says in effect that 'tariff reductions are not to be safely committed to any other hands than' to those of the friends of the inequalities, discriminations and extortions of the present law, because it says that they 'ought not to be committed to any other hands than the Republican party.' We think they ought to be committed to the hands of the friends of the common-weal.

"The promise to reduce tariff taxation 'when certain conditions demand any alterations' is idle, deceptive verbiage. Will any sane man assert that there are not 'conditions demanding' any 'alterations' of any of the schedules of the Dingley Bill? Has not the Republican party had full power to make those alterations? Has it not made them? Does the Republican party think that the practice on the part of a manufacturer of constantly selling his product cheaper abroad than at home constitutes such a 'condition'? Does it believe that where a schedule of the tariff law shelters trusts in this practice there exists such a condition demanding a lowering of the rate at least to the point where foreign competition may enter whenever such a trust thus exploits the American consumer by extortion and unreasonable prices? Who answers? Not the platform.

OLD PROSPERITY DODGE.

"Then there follows the old historical untruth that a 'Democratic tariff' has always brought about a depression and a 'Republican tariff' has always brought about prosperity. Remember that the man who wrote this pretends to be a historian, regardless of whom you regard as the author of the platform, Senator Lodge of Massachusetts, or the Acting President. It was the voice of the Massachusetts Jacob. It may have been the hand of the Presidential Esau. As a historian he knew that the panic of '73 and the long depression which followed it, if it was due to any sort of a tariff law at all, was due to the then existing tariff law, which was Republican; as a historian he knew that the country was growing in prosperity by leaps and bounds during nine tenths of the period which elapsed from the inauguration of Thomas Jefferson, in 1801, down to that of Abraham Lincoln and that nearly all of that period was a period of low tariff and Democratic ascendancy; as a historian he knew that James G. Blaine put down in black and white the eternal truth that even the Whigs had reconciled themselves to the Walker tariff and confessed that the country had had great prosperity under it.

"The Republican platform says that 'the only free trade country on earth is now agitating for a return to protection.' Of course, the author knew that what is really being 'agitated' in England is a plan for retaliation against protective countries, with as little protection in it as possible to have retaliation at all. He also knew that this agitation had been signal unsuccessful. The platform favors 'commercial reciprocity' wherever it can be had without injury to any American industry. 'Any' is good there; think of it! 'Injury' is good in that connection also. If the phrase means anything it means this, that the Republican party is not willing to secure immensely larger markets for the products of our farms, mines, forests or even manufacturers abroad, if, in return for that, it shall be compelled to admit into competition with 'any' even the least of our industries, 'any' articles of foreign growth and production. Judging by Senator Lodge's record in opposition to the French reciprocity treaty, which was initiated, completed and sent to the Senate by President McKinley, it would mean that the Republican party would refuse, if they were offered, greatly extended markets for Western produce and Southern and Middle States' productions, if thereby it were threatened to cut down 5 per cent. of the possible profits of Massachusetts cotton knitting mill.

SHIP SUBSIDY FEATURE.

"The people will note the cunning manner in which there is concealed in the Republican platform the hydra-head of yet further special legislation by direct money subsidy out of the Treasury to be extended to the class of ship builders and ship owners. They will also note that the Republican party was not quite brave enough to say 'out loud' that this is what is intended. This ship subsidy plank is bolstered up by the usual false statement, in intuendo, that the English merchant marine rests on subsidies from the English Treasury. The fact is that the money paid out by the English Government to ship owners is for carrying the mail and that it is paid to the lowest bidders, and that ship owners of all nations are permitted to bid.

"The platform boasts that the Republican party deserves the credit of recent legislation excluding Chinese labor. The truth is that both parties cooperated to that end and the Democratic party voted that way unanimously on the floor of the House. The difference is this, that the Democrats were consistent with the record and spirit of Democracy and the Republicans were inconsistent with Republican radical professions in other directions. The Democratic party believes that this ought to be, as nearly possible, a white man's country—a homogeneous people, maintaining the white man's civilization, founded on his peculiar industrial home life, out of which has grown his peculiar code of ethics. It consistently voted, therefore, to exclude Chinese. The Republicans profess to believe that there is no difference between races and that all ought to have equal privileges. If so, then the Chinaman ought not to be for-bidden to earn a living, which is a much higher privilege than voting, in America. The inconsistency is palpable. The Republicans cast a right vote upon the Chinese exclusion question, but it was an un-Republican vote.

"In the platform it is said: 'We pledge ourselves to insist on the just and equal treatment of all citizens abroad.' American citizens of Ruisian birth and Jewish race will find it hard to reconcile this profession with the fact that the Secretary of State will not issue a passport to one of them to 'visit and sojourn' in Russia without warning him that he will not be protected there. It is late, right now on the eve of a campaign, to insist that that will be done which is not being done and which has not been done, namely, 'to secure to all American citizens rights of travel and sojourn in foreign countries.'

BOAST ABOUT TRUSTS.

"The boast that the Administration has executed the anti-trust laws is, of course, ridiculous. The Attorney General, in response to a resolution of my own, frankly confessed that nothing had been done, and left the inference that nothing would be done, toward the criminal prosecution of men found guilty by the Supreme Court of the United States in the Northern Securities case, which owed its initiative to Gov. Van Sant, of having violated the provisions of anti-trust legislation. The entire Republican party at the last session of the House of Representatives, with three exceptions, voted against a proviso in structuring the Secretary of the Navy not to enter into Government contracts with trusts and unlawful combinations convicted by law of being such. The Attorney General, in answer to another resolution, failed to show that anything substantial was being done, civilly or criminally, against the anachronistic coal carrying railroads and authorizes coal mining owners, constituting together, in violation of law, one of the greatest trusts in the country. This same 'trust buster,' Attorney General Knox, has just been appointed by the Governor of Pennsylvania a Senator from that State on demand of the very men who constituted this trust, and who are, at any rate, the presidents of the railroads and the owners of the mines constituting it. What are you going to do when the 'trust buster' is 'busted'—or removed, which is the same thing? Answer, echo, answer!

THE NEGRO PLANK.

"I will not now go into the minor details of the platform. It simply stands pat everywhere except in one respect, and that is a respect in which it could well have afforded to let well enough alone, if things are, indeed, ever well enough in this world. That is the plank in which it promises if it finds the suffrage in any State 'unconstitutionally limited' by special discrimination to reduce the representation of that State in Congress and in the Electoral College. The adverb 'unconstitutionally' is useless and fools nobody, especially when one remembers that the author of the phrase, or at least the voice that read it, was the author of the old 'force bill.' Whether not the suffrage has been 'unconstitutionally limited' is a matter for the courts to determine, and a report of a Republican Committee on Elections in the last Congress so confessed it. If a man be 'unconstitutionally' denied the suffrage, then, after a determination to that effect, he can vote—that is his remedy, and the right remedy, and, having voted, of course, there can be no reduction of representation on his account.

"But all this deceives nobody, as I said. The real object of the Republican party, in so far as this plank is concerned, however, especially the phraseology in which it is clothed, is to reduce Southern representation without reducing that of Massachusetts, Connecticut, and other States, wherever in the South negroes are disfranchised, not as such, but because of ignorance, or by an educational qualification, or because of any other right reason, in any other constitutional way. Disfranchisement of a negro for ignorance in Mississippi is a horrible thing; disfranchisement of a white man for ignorance in Massachusetts is a part of 'higher civilization.'

INCONSISTENCY SHOWN.

"Let not the business interest of the country deceive itself; let those controlling it prepare for another period of uncertainty, unrest, tumultuous disturbance and race war in the Southern States, instead of that of peace and prosperity which both races now enjoy and which has been rendered possible only by home rule and by white supremacy. Let the South not deceive itself either. If the Republican party were sincere in its proposition to reduce Southern representation on the ground of disfranchisement of the negro race in the South, thereby condoning the disfranchisement or 'unconstitutional limitation' itself, it would accompany that proposition with another, to wit, the proposition to repeal the Fifteenth amendment. Their duplicity is shown in this; they wish to maintain the amendment which forbids the negro, for radical reasons, from being disfranchised, and yet, on the pretense that he is for radical reasons disfranchised, they would have the negro not counted as a basis of representation in the Southern States, where he chiefly resides. It is not the white man, as a white man, who is injured by a recurrence to the tendencies of Force Bill days—he can and always will maintain himself—it is business, commerce, manufacturing, agriculture and the negro himself. Commercially and industrially the white men of the South will not be so much injured by this sort of agitation as Northern people will, because the average Southerner is not rich anyhow—gets his food and clothes out of the world, and these he would get anyhow. The mercantile class would be the first to suffer, but as they owe debts to the North and buy from the North, and as nearly everything they sell is manufactured in the North, they would not be alone in their suffering.

"This is but the entering wedge to a new period of 'Southern reconstruction.' It is the beginning of the old scheme, revived for political advantage—consisting in the retention of the solid negro vote in Indiana, Illinois and other like conditioned States—this time without price in money paid—to disturb all over the prosperous Southland, peace and order, to demoralize reviving industries, to unsettle business and labor, to disintegrate society and, as a remote effect, if successful, to hybridize the race there and Africanize its civilization. That is the ultimate significance of it all, if indeed it be not merely 'a voice in the wilderness' crying out empty promises to the negro voters in the doubtful States. I wish I could believe it was only that. I would believe it but for the opinionated and superstitious character of 'the man in the White House.'

THE LITTLE SIDE SHOW.

"Oh, this boy with a lighted torch in a powder magazine, imagining himself a hero! Is there no way to teach him practical sense? If there were, how small a comparison would be the immediate and ultimate significance of a partisan victory either way!

"In keeping with all this was the Santo Domingo scene in the Republican National Convention, the wild adoration of 'My Little Alabama Coon'—or was it a Georgia coon? Why were the two little white girls thrust on the same platform with the little negro boy to march around with him, waving flags? Why was it all thus pre-arranged? What was the pretended lesson intended by it? What of it all? Is it a meaning which any white Republican dares put in words? Or is it a meaning to be guessed at and to be left to negro orators speaking to negro audiences to put in such words as are adapted to their race traits, tendencies and longings?"
